

Evolving Horizons in Systems and Control

A Symposium in Honor of Elmer G. Gilbert

Saturday, March 27, 2010

Out of deep respect and admiration for the accomplishments, leadership, and mentorship of Elmer G. Gilbert, a one-day symposium will be held on Saturday March 27, 2010 at the University of Michigan. The program will consist of invited talks that highlight the wide-ranging contributions of Professor Gilbert to systems and control theory.

This event is open to students, faculty, and friends.

There is no registration fee. However, preregistration by March 15 is required.

For registration: Lisa Szuma Ph: (734) 647-4701, email: lszuma@umich.edu

Schedule and location will be posted as they become available at the website:

<http://www.eecs.umich.edu/~grizzle/GilbertFest/>.

Organizers:

N. Harris McClamroch

Dennis Bernstein

Ilya Kolmanovsky

Jessy Grizzle

For further information, please contact:

N. Harris McClamroch nhm@umich.edu , or

Lisa Szuma Ph: (734) 647-4701, lszuma@umich.edu