Rate Your Rental

Allow others students' experiences with student housing help guide you to find the best leases for schoolyears to come.

Do you have a landlord that insists on charging you an arm and a leg each month but still hasn't responded to a maintenance request you placed in September and it's now January? Don't just complain to your close friends on your way home from the library, inform your community! In providing a space to vent or compliment properties and their owners, Rate Your Rental takes you beyond the obligatory, brief tour of a home a rental company normally provides to interested inquirers and presents you with testimonials of individuals that have actually lived in the houses you are considering moving into. Analyzing the ratings and reviews other users have supplied regarding a variety of different attributes you care about when it comes to housing like quality of installed appliances, level of satisfaction with insulation, and availability and agreeableness of parking spaces (if any), among others, will help you to make your most informed decision when selecting your next home away from home! Also, in addition to providing other students with the ability to avoid disastrous housing situations, when you lend feedback on your campus housing experiences, you'll also be helping to hold rental property owners accountable for providing a certain standard of quality for student housing across all campuses! It's a win-win!

Free yourself, be yourself

Unmask is the most genuine way to express yourself. Social media is everywhere in today's society. People are constantly uploading their photos and posting their quotes of the day. Social media is something that people are so attracted to but at the same time something that people are so tired of. Recent survey shows that people are fed up with faking their lives. Photos no longer represent their true self and words no longer express their true thoughts. With Unmask, you can finally be yourself because everything is completely anonymous. Simply share your true feelings and receive sincere feedbacks. Feel the freedom of anonymity by unmasking.

Flix Finder Elevator pitch:

As we move farther into the 21st century, streaming shows is becoming more mainstream than watching shows on network television. It is extremely common for people to consume their entertainment through websites like Netflix and Hulu. As a consumer of these sites, have you ever been in the situation where you wanted to watch a show or movie but didn't know what streaming site you pay for has it, if any? What if you had a service that would show you every show and movie you pay for through these streaming sites in just one place? This app will condense all of the movies and shows that you have access to into one place so you only have to search one application to find the show you are looking for. This will allow users to quickly find shows that they have access to and limit the amount of time spent looking for what they want to watch. After all we have all spent an hour browsing through three different streaming sites for a show to watch with friends on a lazy night?

Roomies

For groups of roommates or housemates who need help organizing payments, shopping, and chores, Roomies is the only app that that organizes every aspect of living with others.

Unlike shopping list apps, group spending apps, and chore-organizing apps, Roomies is the only app that combines all of these services in one easy-to-use interface.

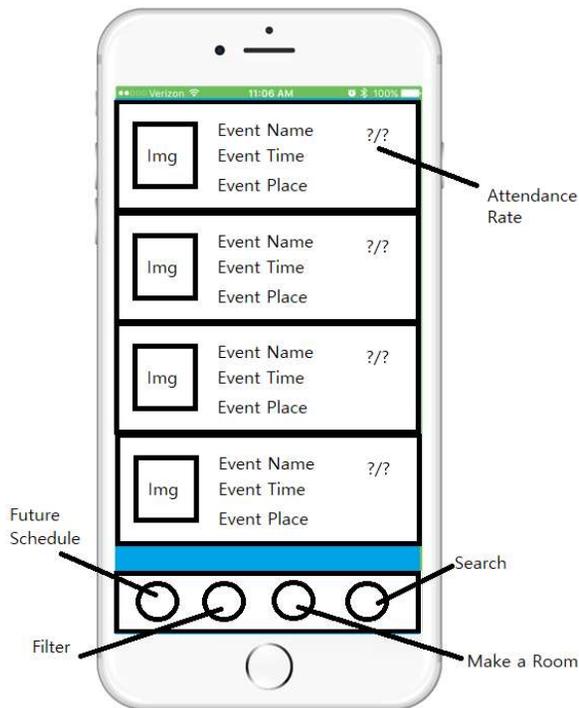

All your accounts in one place

In a world with an increasing number of services requiring customer accounts, AccountSafe tracks your personal information tied to each of your accounts so you don't have to

Key benefits:

- Lets you quickly find which of your accounts a given piece of information is tied to
- Allows for convenient and consistent account updates
- Doubles as a password manager, with 2-factor authentication and the latest information security practices

KnockKnock

- It is not simple to decide to proceed the event when there are more than 4 people involved in the event. Even if use group chat or text messages, it is very hard to organize people's opinions. This app helps people to organize and schedule private or public events.
- Clicking a room from the front page will lead to detailed information and ask users to check their preferences. This attendance rate will be updated to the front page as shown. If a person decide to proceed, it will be added to a calendar.
- Busy students or school organizations can easily publish events notification through this app and check out those events through searching specific words.
- Many other event apps show only official events, but our users will also be able to publish events for friends. Users will be able to have a filter lock and eliminate some kinds of events to show up on their front page.

College Book Sale (CBS)

Make Everything Count

One of the biggest issue for college students in the US is the difficult access to affordable books. Bookstores, Amazon, Facebook and other resources do not provide affordability, convenience and easiness. So how can we solve this problem?

The short answer is the application College Book Sale. College Book Sale application is for students at the University of Michigan to sell/buy books from other students on campus. CBS allows students to search books available and get in touch with the seller through the app. Unlike websites and bookstore, this application saves time, money and effort to students.

CBS is the only application that will allow students to search effectively for books they need and buy them at a reasonable price and a convenient location.

The total number of CrossFit gyms across the world is over 13,000 with a total number of 4 million devotees.

1

The problem: there is no central app that does everything a CrossFit member needs.

This new app will allow CrossFit users to:

- Track workouts and exercise progress using a gym's feed or on your own
- Set macronutrient goals and log daily diet without having to use other resources
- Export their fitness and dietary data to other platforms with ease
- Discover workouts from other gyms
- Understand and improve their fitness mechanics

Young People

- Don't read print newspapers
- Are the most valuable demographic to many companies
- Love playing games

Retailers/ Restaurants

- Looking for young people to form habits with their business
- Always looking for ways to align themselves with positive values / good PR

Newspapers

- Need young people to read them
- Provide the best journalism in the world.
- Are good for the world (my opinion)

PaperBoy

A game, updated every day. The games, which rotate day to day, require having read the days newspaper. Winning the games gets you points which you can use at local establishments. If initially successful, newspapers could eventually pay to have their articles featured

Have you ever been in a new city and were unsure if you are in a safe area?

Few things are worse than finding out you are staying in a dangerous area. StaySafe is an app for people traveling to cities who want to make sure they will be in safe neighborhoods. It is easy to use and allows people to look up recent crime alerts which have occurred throughout the city. Unlike other safety apps StaySafe consolidates information such as locations of crime reports and sex offenders in one app.
